

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

MRS. WILLIAM RUFFIN COX gave an elegant reception yesterday afternoon, from 5 to 7 o'clock, in honor of resident and visiting Colonial Dames and to the bishops and their wives in attendance upon the sessions of the Episcopal General Convention.

Beautiful and elaborate decorations were in Colonial blue and yellow, the color scheme being carried out in draperies, yellow roses, chrysanthemums, and other flowers.

Mrs. Cox, gowned in embroidered pink cloth over pale blue, received with Mrs. James Alston Cabell, who wore pink satin radium; Mrs. Joseph Blount Chesler, of North Carolina; Mrs. John C. Thomas, of South Carolina; and Mrs. Willard Moore, of Rochester, N. Y.

Mrs. Thomas Bolling presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Harvie poured tea.

The centerpiece of the table, set most attractively in Colonial silver and cut glass, was formed of bonbons and flowers in yellow and blue. Dainty ices and cakes carried out the same idea, as did all the china, which was altogether in blue and gold. The gathering was one of the most representative of the many that have assembled during the month.

Faulkner-Durkee.

Society generally is interested in the announcement of the marriage of Mr. Charles James Faulkner, Jr., son of former United States Senator C. J. Faulkner, of Martinsburg, W. Va., and Miss Elizabeth Durkee, of Chicago, the ceremony taking place at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening last in the home of Dr. and Mrs. William Parsons, of Chicago, the Rev. Dr. Bixbey officiating.

Among the several hundred guests present were Senator and Mrs. Faulkner, Miss Sally Faulkner and Master Whiting Faulkner, of the groom's family.

The bride wore white lace, a tulle veil and carried Bride roses. Miss Amy Spencer, gowned in yellow satin radium, was her maid of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner will be at Martinsburg, W. Va., on Tuesday next, to witness the wedding of Miss Sally Faulkner and Mr. Stephen R. Snodgrass, at Boydville, near Martinsburg, the Faulkner ancestral home. Mr. Faulkner is to be one of his sister's ushers.

Neville-Trant.

At 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening, in the Second Baptist Church, Miss Ethel Scott Trant, daughter of the late Edward Lawrence and Mrs. Rose Harrison Trant, was married to Mr. Willis Kenneth Neville, a successful young business man of Portsmouth, Va., the pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. W. R. L. Smith, performing the ceremony.

The color scheme in the decoration was green and white. The bride was gowned in cream satin trimmed with ancestral lace. Her flowers were lilies of the valley, sprays of which caught the folds of her dress.

The maid of honor, Miss Rosa Perdition Trant, wore cream mill over tulle, and carried Golden Gate roses. The bridesmaids, who were Misses Callett, Gates, Nelson and Harrison, of Richmond; Nash, of Norfolk, and Neville, of Portsmouth, looked very smart in cream organdy frocks with yellow girdles. They held sheaves of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. L. W. Bailey, of Norfolk, was best man to the groom, and the other attendants included Messrs. Stephens, King, Neville and Trant, of Norfolk, and L. H. Trant, of Richmond.

An informal reception was given in the home of the bride after the wedding, and pretty floral decorations were in pink and green.

Mr. Harrison's Story.

Mr. Harry Synhor Harrison has a short story or novelette in the November issue of the Smart Set, under the title of "The Wonderful Lady."

The many who know Mr. Harrison through his humorous verses over the signature of H. S. H. will be interested to see if the same humor is not a prominent characteristic of his prose. But whether Mr. Harrison chooses to masquerade in humor or pathos, what he presents to his readers is sure to prove equally bright and clever and well worth attention.

Williams-Cardwell.

Prospect Hill, near Hanover Court-house, the hospitable home of Judge Richard H. Cardwell, of the State Supreme Court, will be the scene of a brilliant wedding, to be celebrated at 5 o'clock this afternoon, when Miss Julia Cardwell is to be married to Mr. G. Williams, the Rev. S. C. Southall officiating.

Miss Kate Wren, of Bon Air, will be Miss Cardwell's maid of honor, and Mr. C. P. Cardwell the best man. Guests leaving Richmond to witness the ceremony will go by the Chesapeake and Ohio 2 P. M. train.

Henson-Bernard.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Bernard have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Calais Lee, to Mr. Ashby D. Henson, on Wednesday evening, October 23d, at 7:30 o'clock, in the home of the bride, No. 331 South Pine Street, this city.

Ryan-McSweeney.

A pretty wedding was celebrated yesterday morning at 8 o'clock in St. Patrick's Church, when Miss Mamie Martin McSweeney became the bride of Mr. Thomas B. Ryan. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father McKeefry, assisted by the Rev. Father Thomas Rankin. The bride was attended by Miss Eulalia McSweeney, her maid of honor, and wore an empire gown of white silk crepe de chine over tulle, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss McSweeney was gowned in messaline de sole and real lace. Mr. Arthur Ryan acted as best man, and Miss Nina Randolph presided at the organ. The other attendants were Messrs. George and Joseph McSweeney, Leslie Morecock, Leo Meagher, George Parater, William Ahern, W. F. Mahoney and John Bryan.

A handsome wedding breakfast was tendered the bridal party after the ceremony at the bride's home, and immediately at its conclusion Mr. and Mrs. Ryan left on a tour to include the exposition and prominent Northern cities. They will be at home to their friends at No. 305 North Twenty-third Street after November 1st.

Mr. Ryan is the son of the late Hon. Thomas C. Ryan, of Omaha, Neb., and Mrs. Kate Ryan, of this city, and is a prominent young business man of Richmond. The bride is the daughter of the late Michael McSweeney and Mrs. Mary McSweeney, and has for many years been organist of St. Patrick's Church.

Chrysanthemum Tea.

A novel entertainment to be given this evening is the chrysanthemum tea, at the home of Miss Grace Rohleder, Virginia Avenue, Highland Park, the proceeds to go to the Girls' Chapter of HINDS CASE AGAIN Judge Waddill Conducting Second Trial of Fredericksburg Suit.

Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., sitting in the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, is engaged in conducting the second trial of the suit of Miss Nellie R. Hinds vs. Henry Warden for alleged breach of contract. Miss Hinds is a professional stenographer, and in her declaration she alleges that she entered the employ of the defendant in Fredericksburg at a stated salary, to continue until his death, and then he was to leave her a certain amount of money in addition. She figures all this out at $15,000, the amount for which she is suing. At the first trial Judge Waddill practically instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for $3,400 in favor of the plaintiff, but they fixed the damages at only $900. This was quickly set aside by the court, and hence the new trial. Messrs. Scott & Buchanan represent Miss Hinds, and Warden's interests are being looked after by Messrs. W. D. Carter, of Fredericksburg, and Robert H. Talley, of this city. The case will likely get to the jury to-day.

"CUT OUT DAMN NOISE" Thief Angry at His Mother Who Went Over His Conviction.

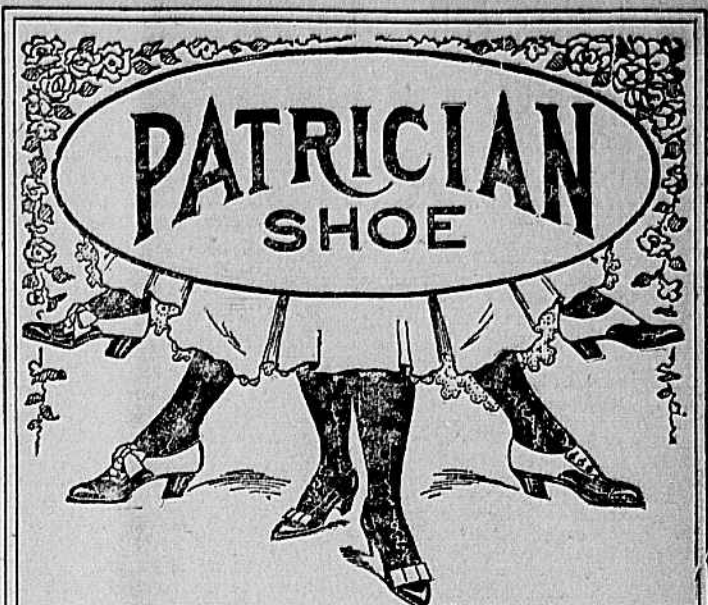

W. L. Farmer and Adolphus Eamons, two white boys, were convicted in the Hustings Court yesterday for breaking into Chesapeake and Ohio railroad cars and stealing therefrom whiskey and flour. On the former indictment each got one year. Eamons, the flour thief, got one year additional.

When the verdict was announced, Mrs. Farmer wept loudly, falling to the floor on the way to the prisoner's room, where she went to join her boy. Farmer, however, wore a jaunty air, and did not like the tears. "Cut out the damn noise," he said, but the old woman continued to weep.

Price, $2.00

NUFORM 403

Will fit any slender or average figure. Long above the waist which it defines very distinctly, showing a perfectly straight line down the front of the figure. Made of white and drab coutil. Trimmed with lace and ribbon. Hose supporters front and sides.

Sizes 18 to 30.

Price, $1.00

NUFORM 447

For well developed figures, it is a very good model. The gore lines run backwards, a construction which restrains undue development below the back. Medium high bust, long hips and extra long back. Made of an excellent quality of white coutil, elaborately trimmed with lace and ribbon. Hose supporters front and sides.

Sizes 19 to 30.

Price, $3.00

The W.B. Reduso Corset

Is a boon for large women—the ideal garment for over-developed figures requiring special restraint. It not only restrains the tendency to over-fatness, but it moulds the over-developed proportions into those pleasing, graceful outlines, hitherto thought to be attainable only by slighter figures. The particular feature of this model is the apron over the abdomen and hips, boned in such a manner as to give the wearer absolute freedom of movement.
